Friendship skills:
Suggestions for families

Parents and carers are children’s first and most important teachers when it comes to relationships. The ways you relate to your children and the guidance you provide helps develop children’s social skills. You can help children develop and maintain friendships by modelling effective social skills, providing opportunities for children to practise interacting with others, and offering support when they go through difficulties. Taking the role of a coach helps children learn the skills they need for themselves.
The following suggestions may be helpful

Make time to play too
Parents and carers can improve their children’s social skills by playing with them regularly. Letting children choose and lead the play allows you to be playful with them and encourages them to practise skills for cooperation and negotiation. Making time for play helps strengthen your relationship with them as well as their skills. Avoid criticising and make it fun!

Allow your child to try all sorts of different activities
Children who have a wide range of interests are more likely to have something in common with others and so find it easier to make friends and get along.

Invite children for play dates
Having friends over to visit helps children to establish friendships and practice their social skills. It also provides an opportunity for you to provide on-the-spot coaching for children as they develop their friendship skills. Providing positive guidance and helping to structure activities (without taking over!) can be very important when establishing new friendships.

Talk with children about what is happening for them with their friends
Find a relaxed time, like the drive home from school or after dinner, to talk about what is happening in your children’s friendship group. By doing this, you let them know that you are interested in their wellbeing, and this can also be an opportunity to share some of your experiences and to help them solve any problems they might have.

Encourage positive, relevant strategies
Parents and carers can talk about, and encourage, friendly and cooperative strategies that can help their child to develop friendships. For example, encouraging children to negotiate or compromise when trying to solve conflicts with peers is a strategy that is more positively received than aggression or verbal threats.

Take a problem-solving approach
Parents and carers don’t need to have the answers to all of their children’s problems. You can support your children to think through a problem for themselves by talking with them and asking some useful questions. For example:

Tips for Parents and Carers for Participating in the Premier’s Reading Challenge (PRC)

- Find out the name(s) of your school’s PRC coordinator(s) and how they plan to administer the Challenge.
- Familiarise yourself with the PRC website. Logon is not required to view the Booklists, or read the Rules and Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs).
- Set reminders for Challenge opening and closing dates in your and your child’s calendar.
- Find out your child’s logon details. For public schools, students’ logon will be the same one they use to access computers and the internet at school.
- Assist your child to borrow books from the school or local library. Listen to your child read and talk about the story/characters/information. Read to or with your child if she/he is participating in the K-2 Challenge.
- Help your child to log on and add books to her/his Student Reading Record regularly.
- Check your child’s Challenge history – log on to the website, go to Student Reading Record and select tab My Information. If Challenge participation at a previous school is not listed, contact your child’s PRC coordinator.
- Contact your child’s PRC coordinator if:
  - Your child has any difficulty using her/his logon details to access the PRC website.
  - You are concerned that your child’s name is spelt incorrectly in the PRC website.
- Your child’s online Student Reading Record (SRR) must have the required number of books recorded to complete the Challenge by the student closing date. School PRC coordinators have an extra week to validate the SRR. Only students with a validated SRR are eligible for a certificate.
- In the final weeks of the Challenge, log on regularly to the website to check the status of your child’s SRR. Contact your child’s PRC coordinator if you are concerned your child’s SRR has not been validated.
This year our school is participating in Book Bonus, an optional online fundraiser linked to the NSW Premier’s Reading Challenge.

Book Bonus offers an opportunity to encourage our students to read books for the Challenge while raising funds to help resource the school with high quality books.

Our school will receive books to 100% of the value of funds raised by our students and we’ll also be helping schools in need across NSW. 50% of all funds raised will be used to provide books to schools in Dymocks Children’s Charities literacy support programs.

Note also, there are prizes for the students’ participation with each child raising over $200 receiving a book of their choice (valued up to $20) and prizes for the top fundraisers in the state.

How Book Bonus works:

For more information on this fundraiser and to register, go to the website www.bookbonus.org.au or contact our PRC co-ordinator, Mrs McGuire.
